Simplicity of Faith

By Ricky Daniels

Without question, when we say “home” we conger up many strong memories. It could be the house we grew up in, the town where our childhood friends lived or the place where our family gathered for holidays. But it is definite that it has a very prominent place in forming who we became. It is the place that we long to visit; the place that can give us a sense of worth and purpose. Home is also where we learned many lessons from our first teachers: Mom and Dad.

One memory that I have from my younger days was when my Dad co-signed for me to buy my first car. He put his name and reputation on the line and stood behind me at the bank. I was so proud to own my first car, a 1970 Ford Maverick, Pepper Tree Red. And within a few days the brakes went out on my first car. My Dad told me he would not fix the car for me, but that I had to do it. I was 16 years old and knew nothing about fixing brakes. My Dad told me he would tell me what I needed to do to fix the brakes. So, with his instructions fresh on my mind I purchased the parts I needed and began to change the brakes. And after a few pinched fingers and a little frustration I did finally get the brakes fixed.

So how does a story from my childhood end up on these pages? In the last week the Word of our Father has been given to us. Instructions of how to handle the things that life sends our way. Our faith in the Word we were given and the work we do with it will determine who and what we become. Just a note, from the time of my Dad’s instruction until today, no mechanic has earn a single dime repairing brakes on any car I have owned. Now if I will just have faith in the Word of my Father as I did on the words of my Dad what could be accomplished for His Kingdom!

Visiting Protocol

In America we live in homes where we have shelter and comfort and find rest. On occasion we may have visitors or family members who arrive at our home. There is a protocol or guideline they follow when visiting. Normally they walk to the front porch, ring the doorbell or knock on the door and wait for an occupant of the house to open the door and invite them in. The adults carry on conversations while the children play and enjoy the atmosphere. We may dine, party or talk about our good life. When the visitation comes to a close we gather at the front door and say our good byes. If the visit was a pleasant one, the adults and children leave with a desire to return.

There is also a protocol to follow when we visit God's house. Psalms 100:4 reads, "Enter his gates with thanksgiving and his courts with praise." When we come onto the property of God's place, we should greet one another and express our thanksgiving for the blessings he gives us. We tell of how we are thankful for the chance to come into his house. We witness our blessings with a thankful heart.

I was glad when they said unto me, Let us go into the house of the Lord.

Psalmist David

But when the doors of the sanctuary are opened and we step into God's place, it is no longer about us. We are to enter his courts with praise. It becomes about meeting the Master of the home, the only occupant dwelling there. If we are truly expecting to meet him, our conversations should be lifting praise to him. Psalms 22:3 refers to God as the inhabitant of the praises of Israel. The dictionary describes inhabit as "to be present in" or "to occupy." Thus God is present in praise. That is when we communicate with the Master of the home. He ministers to us, heals our bodies and spirits and revives us. He creates new hearts in us and gives us sustaining life.

When our visit is over and we walk back into his gates there is no defined protocol for leaving his house. Is that because each of us that communed with the Master of the home will walk away different? Could it be that when we enter the gates after being inside his court, we are changed and renewed and our thoughts are no longer about us?

Our visits with God are always pleasant and leave us with a desire to return. No wonder the Psalmist David wrote, "I was glad when they said unto me, Let us go into the house of the Lord."

It Was Real

The ministries of God were very present during the Anniversary Celebration Services at Praise Temple Evangelistic Church last week. Four prophets were gathered by God Wednesday evening to allow God to minister to his people.

The healing power of God continued from Wednesday until Sunday as several witnessed first hand God's miraculous healing powers.

The teaching and preaching held us captive as the Word of God was so powerfully administered by servants of God.

Psalmists, musicians, dancers and our own Christian rapper expressed their talents given to them by The Holy One as God used them for his glory.

Members of Praise Temple, young and old, spoke of the past, present and future occasion of the church.

God has exciting things planned for Praise Temple in this season. We are so excited to be part of God's promises and workings.

As God continues to bless Praise Temple, we would like to report the goodness of God in the form of a newsletter. If you are a member of Praise Temple and would like to contribute to the future monthly newsletters, please submit your articles by the 3rd Sunday of each month to Ricky or Sherri Daniels (praiserpt@gmail.com).

God's blessings come in various forms and we want to share these blessings with you. All are welcomed to be shared in this Praise Report. We look forward to a good report of God's blessings in the months ahead.

He Knows The Children

It Is So

As the prophets began to minister to Praise Temple during the Anniversary service on Wednesday evening, God began to speak to our children. He saw their spirit, their future and their heart. Prophetic utterance went forth to Micah. His life is in God's hands and God is in control with great plans for him. There is a calling on his life which began immediately. God will work mightily thru him. Just as Jesus was taken to the temple at an early age and his ministry began, God has started a work in Micah's life. We believe it is so and so it is.
